1 Mondrian's first European outpost takes inspiration from the elegant cruise liners of the 1920s, with an Anglo-American aesthetic that takes influence from the Brutalist movement

2 A dramatically curved copper structure greets guests in the lobby, inspired by a ship's hull

3 The building was originally designed in the 1970s to become a luxury hotel but it was taken over by a shipping company

4 Brass fixtures and plush fabrics in deep blue, forest green and burgundy feature throughout

5 Rooms are made to resemble cabins, providing a calm and cosy feel

1 Hotel Praktik Bakery in Barcelona has exclusively integrated the acclaimed Anna Bellsolá's Baluard bakery within its hotel foyer to provide a new service to their guests, and to change the atmosphere as people enter the building

2 Praktik Bakery offers guests the experience of enjoying homemade bread right in the centre of the hotel lobby. It aims to lure passers-by inside, not just with the sights and smells of the bakery, but also with its sophisticated contemporary design

3 The airy interiors feature subtle antique touches on a predominantly white palette. Its public spaces exhibit an eclectic modernist style, featuring brick walls, exposed steel framing and industrial-style lighting
